

BANGOR DAILY WHIG AND COURIER

Y SMITH & SAYWARD.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1846.

VOLUME XIII...NUMBER 13.

FLOUR, FLOUR.
BBLs. Genoa, Ohio, and Virginia
Flour; for sale by E. & W. JEWELL,
No. 1 City Point Block.

PER—We have just received, direct from the Manufacturer, a large lot of Papered, ruled to suit—Bill, Ledger, Invoice, Day Book, Cap, Pot, Letter, etc., cheap for record—Cap, Pot, Letter, etc., cheap for G. H. SMITH & CO.

SAWS,
Tin & Hardware

A complete assortment kept constantly on hand by

M. SCHWARTZ,

STORE AND FACTORY,

the second door north of York-st.

On Exchange-st.

A fresh supply of the above

Goo's, of the best quality, just received, and will be sold at that cannot fail to suit purchasers.

PRICES

SAWS

Of all kinds made and repaired as usual.

M. SCHWARTZ,

Exchange-st.

latter themselves that with is experienced, workmen the same as to give satisfaction to these, will themselves with Goods of the most honest and despotic, and them with their patronage, a to see them in the course of the advancing towns in the country to receive their orders.

DOW'S NEW BLOCK CENTRAL STREET.

on 16th.

INDIAN HAIR OIL.

perior article for dressing the hair. It will restore the hair when falling off, and also new hair when the head is bald.

Original recipe by J. & Benj. F. Abbott, 100 Hanover-street, Boston. For sale by J. & BENJ. F. ABBOTT, No. 100 Hanover-street, Boston, for sale a great quantity of and Thomsonian Medicines, wholesale and retail.

lot Strops and Wallets.

LARGE assortment of the above articles just received, and for sale wholesale and retail at retail cash prices:

also and assortment of Backgammon Boards, the necessary apparatus, at

JOHN LOWELL & CO'S,

2nd door East of Post Office.

WILLIAM BUGGIE,

Premium Venetian and Gossamer Wig Hair.

228 Washington-street, or of Summer, (or Hair), BOSTON, always on hand and manufactured for sale, varnished and beautiful, Companions of Ladies' Half-Wigs, Frizzles, Long Islands, &c. of shade, &c. Also Gentleman's Wigs, shade, &c. of the very finest and lightest for which he was awarded the First at the late Mechanics' Fair in Boston.

On application (by letter or otherwise) can full directions for mensuring the head insure a perfect fit. A fine selection of Beams—wholesale at low prices.

now avy.

PURIFY THE BLOOD

MOFFAT'S

VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS

AND

PHOENIX BITTERS.

The high and envied celebrity which these pre-ecuted Medicines have acquired for their invincible efficacy in all the diseases which they professed to cure, has rendered the usual practice of puffing and advertising, however, but a poor show for them, and they drive not by the fair of the credulous.

H. EDDY, Civil Engineer.

July 21. Sewardly

JOHN'S

CASH STOVE

REHOUSE

selling off the remainder of his goods.

—A superior article, for sale for Market Price.

Feb. 1.

Dissolution.

Partnership heretofore existing between

LORD & CHAPIN,

by mutual consent on the 1st instant, indebted to said firm, are requested to give immediate, and all his the firm will please present the amount to me.

B. T. CHAPIN.

June 18, 1846.

ANTES EXCHANGE

HOTEL,

street BOSTON

The proprietors of this elegant and convenient establishment beg leave to request acknowledgment to the traditional and general patronage which it is their pleasure to make them feel that

Traveler's Hotel, and the temporary residence of their friends.

It is an important disease over which this "Balson" is a very powerful influence, but of course, it is not a specific.

DISEASED LIVER.

It has undoubtedly proved more than any remedy, either surgical or medicine, to remove the disease, without receiving benefit from various remedies, and when it has been restored to health, the help of many other effects.

PERMANENT CURES.

This known remedy has failed to produce this effect of a Regular Physician.

Exeter, Mo., Sept. 30, 1845.

I certify that I have recommended this of Wild Cherry for diseases of the liver, spleen, kidneys, &c. &c. &c. &c.

to my patients, all with good results. In two cases where it was thought consumption had taken place, the Wild

Cherry has effected a cure.

TO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

Whig and Courier.

John S. Baynard, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1846.

For the Whig and Courier.

Annexation of Texas.

Concluded

But our government has duties other than those which it owes to the Mexican Republic—it has duties which it owes to the cause of universal liberty, which should restrain it from extending the boundaries and the interests of slavery, for the utmost that can be alleged that the Federal Constitution does or provides for the protection of that institution, so far with all our principles, institutions, and forms of government, is, that it secures its existence to the several States in which it existed at the time of the adoption of that instrument from the interference of any power save to those States—it makes no provision for extending the influence and power of that institution over new territory, nor for the admission of new territory in which it may already be established, for the purpose of equalizing the power of the slaveholding with that of the non-slaveholding States. Our government also has a duty which it owes to the cause of philanthropy at large,—a duty to refrain from waging all possible cases where it can be avoided, as a means for adjusting national differences. And it further owes a duty to the people of the country, not to waste their blood, to squander their treasure,—to damage their great business interests, for the purpose of attaining, or of promoting any project—any interest which may not be indispensable, or highly necessary to the public good. And such, we are persuaded, is not the annexation of Texas to this Union. The assertion that if we had not annexed Texas, she would have united herself with some foreign State and have become a dependency of England or of France, is too absurd to demand a serious answer. And even if this had been so, we should have had no right to complain, nor should we ultimately have had anything to fear from such a course. We have said that the annexation of Texas was premature, we have ever so regarded it, and we have opposed it with such measure of power as we could.

Looking into the future we think we can see the course of events before us. Through the world there appear to be but two great races whose destiny is to act politically upon mankind. These are the slavonic race as manifested in the developments of Russian power, and the Anglo-Saxon as it presents itself in Great Britain and in these United States. That this last named race is destined at no distant future, —may be even nearer than we anticipate, —to bear sway throughout all North America at least,—to establish its institutions throughout that whole continent,—we look upon as inevitable, as that same race will ultimately absorb the red race and become dominant throughout what is now the acknowledged territory of our Union. The Hispano-American race is a worn out race, pure in all the vigor of enterprise, and is destined long to absorb into, and assimilate with itself, the other race, to the fulness of Dorcas, as it has already done with the same race, mingled with the French, in Louisiana. Nor can the time be very far distant when the British prosperity on this continent, will like the fruit fully ripe, separate themselves and drop off from the British Empire, and, in all probability, become united with us as one people.

But to effect all this, neither war, nor violence, nor slavery, nor fraud are necessary. It is only requisite that we patiently bide our time. In the pregnant future, we believe, in the persons of all we have suggested. The future destiny of this country we regard as certain—as inevitable. We would only wish to restrain unjust, impolite, and rash attempts to precipitate that, which is to our view already approaching, with ever-accelerating rapidity. Let us set to it, that in accomplishing our high destiny as a people, all the ends we aim at be prompted by justice and benevolence,—be "our Country, God, and Truth."

"How are the Mighty fallen!"

That such a man as James W. Bradford, should be thought by any party to fill the place of U. S. Senator, is humiliating indeed, and as successor to Geo. Evans, it is, like the Irishman said, "a high step down."

It has been a source of pride to men of all parties, that the Senate of the United States has been almost without exception composed of the great men of the nation, and that few whose abilities were not of the first order, have been honored with a seat in that distinguished body. Maine has sent her best and strongest men there—and although in her willingness to submit to the lead of political demagogues of questionable integrity and doubtful motives, and to be baffled about by every "wind of doctrine" which modern Democracy, in its "progressive" course has seen fit to impose, her degradation has been extreme, yet she has been represented with dignity and ability in the United States Senate.

The feeling was almost universal, that neither Gov. Anderson nor Hannibal Hamlin were fit for the station, and it was hoped, that for the credit of the party electing him, and of the State whose reputation must in a great measure rest on him, that a whole man should be sent. But how great the disappointment. I believe I do not exaggerate when I say that the news of Jas. W. Bradford's nomination was received by men of all parties, with scarce an exception, with deep disgust. That he has no one qualification to entitle him to the place, all who know him will admit. That he has a certain sort of connivance which may answer him in the intricacies of his profession, or in a committee room of the Maine Legislature, instead of talents, may perhaps be allowed—but nothing more. His Maker never intended him for a great man, and his acquaintances do not intend him to seat in a place so joyously distinguished.

I may, then, boldly, that humiliating as a career by the gods of her Legislature, that Legislature has no right to think that wrong. Considerable as we appear to many to be the administration of Washington, it is hard to think still further that management. We have now though we are qualified why not take them?—the course of the reproach, the indignation, the will give him some respite, and I like it. There must be something to be said and explained with him; then he'll again—have another election of modulus, that they may go to their newspaper to help him, and you can take that, and—what with thoughts of here dashing around their seats, and whispering peace

Mr. J. Stark.

We had the pleasure on Monday evening, of listening to the reading and recitation of a few pieces by this gentleman, and we were never less conscious of the lapse of time, our attention was so completely occupied. The hall which was generously proffered for the occasion, was well filled at the appointed hour, with as brilliant a circle as is often met.

The ability to read in an easy and natural manner, is an accomplishment that is rarely found; but it depends upon qualifications that are as well suited in the same individual.

He depends mainly upon information; "it is not enough that there be a strict regard to the pronunciation of words, and a close attention to the parts, or even a complete command of the vocal organs. The good reader must be a man of great intellectual culture, comprehend at a glance the nicest shades of thought. He must be a man of good natural abilities, and of a discriminating mind."

He must be a man of feeling also, with a soul trembling alive to every emotion of a sensible being who has not been blunted by the world. In his veins the blood must not flow in low current, but the pulse must beat high—in fine, he must be a man of great heart.

He must be a man of taste, for much is required that artifical rules can never compass, that depends solely upon the judgement of the reader. With feeling and information united, without this, the performance cannot but be dull and insipid. Without it, the feeling may be too strong and inappropriately sustained,—inspiration will never supply the defect. In a gift of nature. The mere mechanical reading of a drama, though it does not require the exercise of these qualifications in an eminent degree, but in all the higher reaches of thought and masterly eloquence, they are indispensable.

With this standard before us, we are of opinion that Mr. Stark deserves a high rank as a reader and orator. He has been a pupil of Mordock, and one of whom the master may justly proud. During the short time that Mr. Stark has been among us his popularity has been steadily increasing, a result that any one might have predicted who has enjoyed the pleasure of his society. His gentlemanly manners, his genial disposition, cannot fail to render him popular in whatever circle he moves. We were particularly pleased with the manner in which he addressed the attention of his friends, when the time arrived for commencing the exercises. This of itself would seem to be of trivial importance, but for the fact that a mere word will sometimes give us a glimmer of a man's whole character simply defining the whole cast of his soul. The brevity and propriety of his introduction could not have been better. His feelings were from Shakspeare, Scott and Moore, and others, some of a dramatic character, some grave and severe, others lively and gay. The conception of his hearer and he was a variety of things, but the result was unique and just, and with an appropriate dress, they would have possessed a far more objective reality than many characters of flesh and blood. He who can instill such a sense of charm and modesty, which is now so successful in dramatic representation.

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Indeed, we were prepared to pardon anything of that kind from his age, but we happily found

no reason to exercise our charity in that direction, but we were rather inclined to say, "how much older art thou than thy looks?"

Mr. Stark has just made his debut among us, but never were prospects more flattering, or caused more brilliant success. He is entirely free from that overweening vanity which too often accompanies success, and induces us in us to overstep the modesty of nature.

Steamers for the Rio Grande.

The following steamboats have been purchased at Pittsburgh for the Rio Grande, by Capt. John Saunders, Gen'l Taylor's staff, Waterville, 2 years old, $5000, Corvette, new, $16,000, Rough and Ready, new, $12,000, Col. Cross, new, $14,000; Major Brown, new, $12,000. These boats, excepting the Waterville, are the very best specimens of light water draught, built by our first builders, and are to be delivered to the government agents in New Orleans at the above prices. Boilers and engines perfect.

Then appearance on the Rio Grande will be the commencement of a new era in commerce and civilization.

The Virginia Freshet.

L-tters received in Alexandria, says the Gazette of that place, represent that the rain on Friday night, 3d inst., swept away every mill dam in King George county. The same disaster happened to the mills in Caroline county—In Westmoreland, though the rain was heavy, they were more fortunate. A great deal of corn and wheat on the low grounds had been swept away. Many persons in the Northern Neck will suffer for the want of corn

The tollowing communication, with the accompanying remarks, we take from the Boston Daily Whig, and we are sure it will be read with interest by the friends of Mr. Clay in this region.

C. M. Clay and the True American.

We insert with pleasure the following communication. We shall never judge harshly of Mr. Clay until we become convinced that he has abandoned his principles, and are to be delivered to the government agents in New Orleans at the above prices. Boilers and engines perfect.

Then appearance on the Rio Grande will be the commencement of a new era in commerce and civilization.

C. M. Clay.

Mr. Everett—I was very much gratified with your remarks of June 2d, on C. M. Clay, and sincerely hope they may be spread far and near in the Free States.

The New Englander brought up under every social advantage, and in earliest infancy, a moral atmosphere, known nowhere, comparatively, of the influences which surround a Smith or. If he rises above the level in his own land, and sees the truth, in part, as regards the great doctrine of human freedom the accomplishments wonder. He is a man—every inch a man.

I agree with you in your reasoning as to the Mexican war, and the true course to be pursued. Yet had the event occurred five years ago, I should have volunteered, and, if I extend that period to ten years, I would have sold, or bought negroes, without ever dreaming that I was wronging man, or injuring myself. I feel, therefore, as regards Mr. Clay, that he must be judged of by the light he has—not by the light that is in you—that we must look at him through the eyes of all moral and spiritual influences that surround him,—and not through the more elevated medium in which you move, and have your being.

You know, for various reasons, that a military spirit is fostered in the South. It extends over the whole summer, there. Neither the Palmetto, nor the Pine, combat it, but it exists, nor the famous "True American," considered a debatable one.

Of all the Slave States, Kentucky and Virginia take the lead in this military spirit. It is part of their character to be slaves to the army, right or wrong.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

Both the "True American" and the "True American" spirit are to be found in Kentucky, and in the Southern States, in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and in the West.

B. and P. C. and R. R. CO.
WEDNESDAY May 13th 1846, the Cars will Leave Bangor, at 6 o'clock, A.M.
Leave Oldtown, at 7 o'clock, A.M.
Leave 56 " 8 o'clock, A.M.
Leave 63 " 9 o'clock, A.M.
Leave 12 " 10 o'clock, A.M.
Leave 1 P.M.
Leave 2 " 1 P.M.
Leave 3 " 2 P.M.
Leave 4 " 3 P.M.
Leave 5 " 4 P.M.
Leave 6 " 5 P.M.
Leave 7 " 6 P.M.
Leave 8 " 7 P.M.
Leave 9 " 8 P.M.
Leave 10 " 9 P.M.
Leave 11 " 10 P.M.
Leave 12 " 11 P.M.
Leave 13 " 12 M.

Leave 14 " 1 A.M.

Leave 15 " 2 A.M.

Leave 16 " 3 A.M.

Leave 17 " 4 A.M.

Leave 18 " 5 A.M.

Leave 19 " 6 A.M.

Leave 20 " 7 A.M.

Leave 21 " 8 A.M.

Leave 22 " 9 A.M.

Leave 23 " 10 A.M.

Leave 24 " 11 A.M.

Leave 25 " 12 M.

Leave 26 " 1 P.M.

Leave 27 " 2 P.M.

Leave 28 " 3 P.M.

Leave 29 " 4 P.M.

Leave 30 " 5 P.M.

Leave 31 " 6 P.M.

Leave 1 " 7 P.M.

Leave 2 " 8 P.M.

Leave 3 " 9 P.M.

Leave 4 " 10 P.M.

Leave 5 " 11 P.M.

Leave 6 " 12 M.

Leave 7 " 1 A.M.

Leave 8 " 2 A.M.

Leave 9 " 3 A.M.

Leave 10 " 4 A.M.

Leave 11 " 5 A.M.

Leave 12 " 6 A.M.

Leave 13 " 7 A.M.

Leave 14 " 8 A.M.

Leave 15 " 9 A.M.

Leave 16 " 10 A.M.

Leave 17 " 11 A.M.

Leave 18 " 12 M.

Leave 19 " 1 P.M.

Leave 20 " 2 P.M.

Leave 21 " 3 P.M.

Leave 22 " 4 P.M.

Leave 23 " 5 P.M.

Leave 24 " 6 P.M.

Leave 25 " 7 P.M.

Leave 26 " 8 P.M.

Leave 27 " 9 P.M.

Leave 28 " 10 P.M.

Leave 29 " 11 P.M.

Leave 30 " 12 M.

Leave 31 " 1 A.M.

Leave 1 " 2 A.M.

Leave 2 " 3 A.M.

Leave 3 " 4 A.M.

Leave 4 " 5 A.M.

Leave 5 " 6 A.M.

Leave 6 " 7 A.M.

Leave 7 " 8 A.M.

Leave 8 " 9 A.M.

Leave 9 " 10 A.M.

Leave 10 " 11 A.M.

Leave 11 " 12 M.

Leave 12 " 1 P.M.

Leave 13 " 2 P.M.

Leave 14 " 3 P.M.

Leave 15 " 4 P.M.

Leave 16 " 5 P.M.

Leave 17 " 6 P.M.

Leave 18 " 7 P.M.

Leave 19 " 8 P.M.

Leave 20 " 9 P.M.

Leave 21 " 10 P.M.

Leave 22 " 11 P.M.

Leave 23 " 12 M.

Leave 24 " 1 P.M.

Leave 25 " 2 P.M.

Leave 26 " 3 P.M.

Leave 27 " 4 P.M.

Leave 28 " 5 P.M.

Leave 29 " 6 P.M.

Leave 30 " 7 P.M.

Leave 31 " 8 P.M.

Leave 1 " 9 P.M.

Leave 2 " 10 P.M.

Leave 3 " 11 P.M.

Leave 4 " 12 M.

Leave 5 " 1 P.M.

Leave 6 " 2 P.M.

Leave 7 " 3 P.M.

Leave 8 " 4 P.M.

Leave 9 " 5 P.M.

Leave 10 " 6 P.M.

Leave 11 " 7 P.M.

Leave 12 " 8 P.M.

Leave 13 " 9 P.M.

Leave 14 " 10 P.M.

Leave 15 " 11 P.M.

Leave 16 " 12 M.

Leave 17 " 1 P.M.

Leave 18 " 2 P.M.

Leave 19 " 3 P.M.

Leave 20 " 4 P.M.

Leave 21 " 5 P.M.

Leave 22 " 6 P.M.

Leave 23 " 7 P.M.

Leave 24 " 8 P.M.

Leave 25 " 9 P.M.

Leave 26 " 10 P.M.

Leave 27 " 11 P.M.

Leave 28 " 12 M.

Leave 29 " 1 P.M.

Leave 30 " 2 P.M.

Leave 31 " 3 P.M.

Leave 1 " 4 P.M.

Leave 2 " 5 P.M.

Leave 3 " 6 P.M.

Leave 4 " 7 P.M.

Leave 5 " 8 P.M.

Leave 6 " 9 P.M.

Leave 7 " 10 P.M.

Leave 8 " 11 P.M.

Leave 9 " 12 M.

Leave 10 " 1 P.M.

Leave 11 " 2 P.M.

Leave 12 " 3 P.M.

Leave 13 " 4 P.M.

Leave 14 " 5 P.M.

Leave 15 " 6 P.M.

Leave 16 " 7 P.M.

Leave 17 " 8 P.M.

Leave 18 " 9 P.M.

Leave 19 " 10 P.M.

Leave 20 " 11 P.M.

Leave 21 " 12 M.

Leave 22 " 1 P.M.

Leave 23 " 2 P.M.

Leave 24 " 3 P.M.

Leave 25 " 4 P.M.

Leave 26 " 5 P.M.

Leave 27 " 6 P.M.

Leave 28 " 7 P.M.

Leave 29 " 8 P.M.

Leave 30 " 9 P.M.

Leave 31 " 10 P.M.

Leave 1 " 11 P.M.

Leave 2 " 12 M.

Leave 3 " 1 P.M.

Leave 4 " 2 P.M.

Leave 5 " 3 P.M.

Leave 6 " 4 P.M.

Leave 7 " 5 P.M.

Leave 8 " 6 P.M.

Leave 9 " 7 P.M.

Leave 10 " 8 P.M.

Leave 11 " 9 P.M.

Leave 12 " 10 P.M.

Leave 13 " 11 P.M.

Leave 14 " 12 M.

Leave 15 " 1 P.M.

Leave 16 " 2 P.M.

Leave 17 " 3 P.M.

Leave 18 " 4 P.M.

Leave 19 " 5 P.M.

Leave 20 " 6 P.M.

Leave 21 " 7 P.M.

Leave 22 " 8 P.M.

Leave 23 " 9 P.M.

Leave 24 " 10 P.M.

Leave 25 " 11 P.M.

Leave 26 " 12 M.

Leave 27 " 1 P.M.

Leave 28 " 2 P.M.

Leave 29 " 3 P.M.

Leave 30 " 4 P.M.

Leave 31 " 5 P.M.

Leave 1 " 6 P.M.

Leave 2 " 7 P.M.

Leave 3 " 8 P.M.